3.3 Additional services

Post handles a Post Express shipment specially as an additional service if it is requested by the sender upon posting and the fee for the corresponding additional service was paid in addition to the shipping fee. All other notes or information on the shipment shall not be taken into account.

3.3.1 Collection

If desired and possible, Post Express shipments can be collected directly from the sender. Post charges a fee for performing this additional service.

Post can limit the collection service to senders whose available appliances allow for the unrestricted performance of the collection service.

Post Express shipments with an indication of the value are excluded from the collection service.

3.3.2 Cash on delivery (COD)

The sender may commission Post (hereinafter "COD order") to only deliver a Post Express shipment to the recipient against collection of a cash amount (hereinafter "COD amount") in the name and for the account of the customer/sender. The COD amount per order must not exceed EUR 10,000.00.

The COD order is placed paperlessly or rather electronically with an indication of the following information at a post office and during the time period intended for this purpose:

- Name and address of the sender;
- name and address of the recipient of the Post Express shipment (hereinafter "recipient");
- COD amount to be recovered in EUR;
- name and address of the recipient of the recovered COD amount;
- bank account at a bank belonging to the SEPA zone (with indication of the IBAN number) on which to transfer the recovered COD amount.

If the information is transmitted electronically, the sender must also comply with the provisions of the Post's labelling and notification data primer (Bela-belungs- und Avisodatenfibel available at post.at/geschaefentlich-versenden-paket-versand-kunden-versandsoftware.php) in force at the time the contract is concluded.

Post Express shipments with cash on delivery with a valuable content according to point 3.3.4 of the current version of the Index of products and prices must be posted with an indication of value.

A later amendment of the COD amount, in particular of the COD amount to be collected, is not possible.

Post Express shipments with cash on delivery are only handed over against collection of the COD amount indicated by the sender. The identity of the recipient will be checked in case of doubt.

The collected COD amount is transferred on the bank account at a bank belonging to the SEPA zone indicated by the sender and in the name of the recipient indicated by the sender. The recipient of the recovered COD amount can be a person other than the sender.

Right of retention:

For the purpose of securing all receivables of Post against the sender Post is entitled to retain the recovered COD amount in the amount of its receivables or to set off its receivables against this COD amount, respectively.

This additional service cannot be combined with Saturday delivery.

The following sticker must be used for the labelling of Post Express shipments with cash on delivery:

3.3.3 Personal delivery

Post Express shipments are only delivered to the natural person indicated in the address after verification of the identity. The word "Personal" must appear on the address side of the Post Express shipment.

3.3.4 Post Express shipment with declaration of value

Items with a value exceeding EUR 1,500.00 are only accepted in Post Express shipments with indication of the value, in absence of which Post's liability is limited according to point 5.3.2 of the General Terms and Conditions Post Express. The sender must indicate the actual value (market value).

The following items are – regardless of their value – only accepted in Post Express shipments with indication of the value, in absence of which Post's liability is limited according to point 5.4 of the General Terms and Conditions:

- Valid domestic and foreign means of payment;
- securities;
- precious metals (e.g. gold, silver, platinum);
- jewellery (except costume jewellery), gemstones and precious stones (crystals);
- precious metal watches, watches with precious metals and/or precious stones (crystals) and/or gemstones;
- jewels;
- gold nuggets;
- gold and silver coins;
- cheques;
- credit, cheque and cashpoint cards;
- domestic and foreign passbooks;
- valid domestic and foreign stamps;
- valid domestic and foreign prepaid telephone cards;
- entrance tickets;
- transport and flight tickets;
- vouchers and coupons;
- paintings and antiquities;
- urns with ashes.

The sender must indicate the actual value (market value). It is not authorised to indicate a value that falls below or exceeds the actual value of the content of the shipment. The maximum indicated value is EUR 10,000.00.

This additional service cannot be combined with Saturday delivery.

Only for Post Express shipments with an indication of the value Post's service includes continuous monitoring of the Post Express shipment between posting and delivery.

Post Express shipments with an indication of the value must be sealed so that it is not possible to open the Post Express shipment without damaging the sealing. The packaging may not bear any underlines or notes at the time of posting.

If the indicated value exceeds EUR 1,500.00, the packaging as well as any strapping must be secured with unique sealing wax imprints, unique seals or another equivalent sealing method so that all ends of the packaging are held tight, accessing the content is impossible without any visibly noticeable damage to the packaging or the sealing, and the packaging and strapping cannot be opened or stripped without damaging the sealing or place the adequately packed shipment in a safebag/security bag or value bag.

The following sticker must be used for the labelling of Post Express shipments with indication of the value:

3.3.5 Fragile

Adequately packaged Post Express shipments (in all shapes up to the max. size length 200 cm and girth 360 cm) with content that is fragile or sensible to vibrations. Post handles such Post Express shipments with special care. (Items that are sensible to vibrations are CD/DVD players, electronic articles, notebooks, computers and accessories, coffee machines, etc.) Post Express shipments with a content that is fragile or sensible to vibrations must be labelled with the following "fragile" sticker (or PLC icon), in absence of which the liability of Post for breakage or damage due to vibrations is excluded:

3.3.5.1 Fragile shipments with declaration of value

If the Post Express item is at the same time an item with fragile contents and an item with declaration of value, the item must be marked with both the sticker pursuant to item 3.3.5 and the sticker pursuant to item 3.3.4 – with any other limitation of liability with regard to breakage or shock damage.

In this case, only the fee for shipments with declaration of value is payable, but not the fee for the additional service Fragile.

3.3.6 Sender-info (via SMS or email)

When posting a Post Express shipment, the sender can select the free service option "Sender info" and indicate either their mobile phone number or email address. As soon as the shipment is successfully delivered to the recipient and the takeover of the Post Express shipment was confirmed, the sender receives a one-time SMS or email with a confirmation of the successful delivery. If the delivery attempt fails or delivery is otherwise hindered, the sender is informed of it in a one-time SMS or email.

3.3.7 Recipient-info (via SMS or email)

When posting a Post Express shipment, the sender can select the free service option "Recipient info" and indicate either the mobile phone number or email address of the recipient. The recipient then receives once either an aviso SMS or an email before delivery which contains information on the delivery (Post Express tracking number, date and time of delivery).

3.3.8 Preferred postal branch/Preferred pickup station

Post Express shipments can also be sent to a preferred postal branch or a preferred pickup station. The preferred postal branches can be found by using the branch locator on post.at. The pickup station is an automatic delivery appliance for self-collection which is usually placed in self-service zones.

If case of sending to a preferred postal branch or preferred pickup station the mobile phone number (or email address) and name of the recipient is recorded upon posting of the Post Express shipment. Once the Post Express shipment has arrived, the recipient receives an automatic notification SMS or email (the accuracy and technical capability of the indicated means of contact must – excluding liability of Post – be ensured by the sender and recipient). The recipient can pickup the Post Express shipment immediately after receiving this electronic notification. If it is not picked up within 3 days, a reminder SMS or email is sent to the recipient.
